

StarMetro Route Redesign Study

ThinkTransit

Southside Transit Center

StarMetro is developing a new Southside Transit Center (STTC) near the intersection of Orange Avenue and Meridian Street in Tallahassee's Southside.

The new STTC will improve public transportation services in the Southside by creating more local and direct bus routes with less reliance on C.K. Steele Plaza.

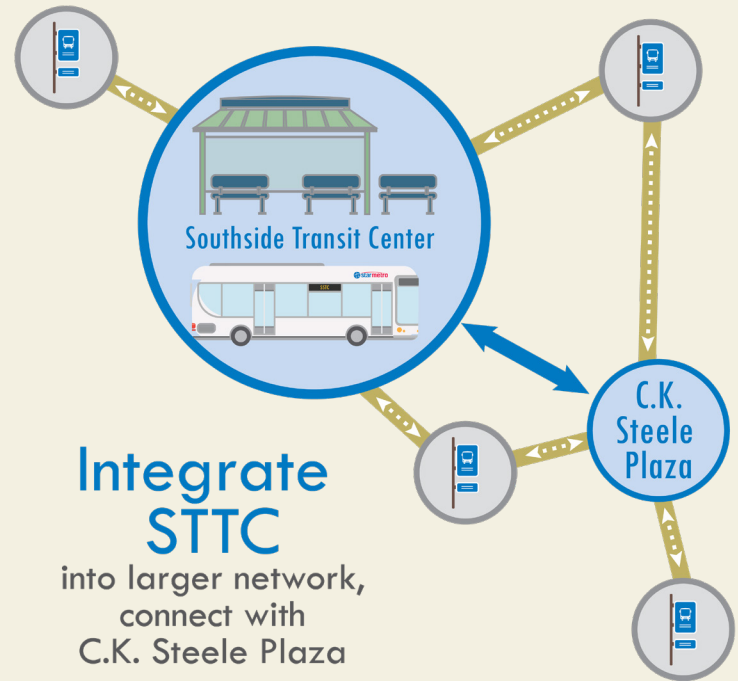

The STTC will also have a customer service booth where riders can buy transit passes, pick up maps and route schedules and learn more about bus service.

About the Route Redesign Study

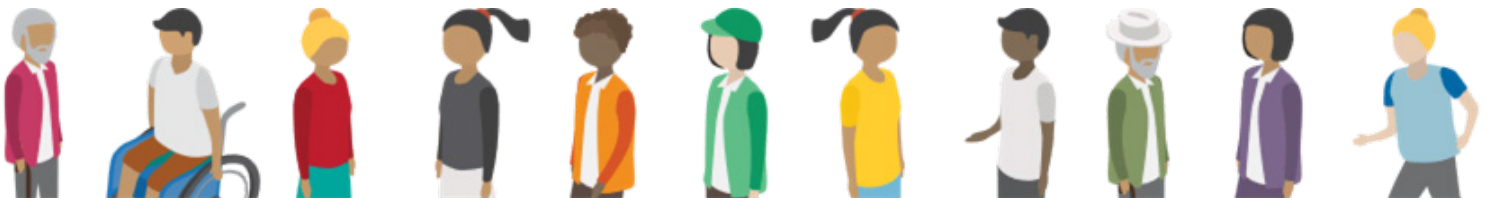

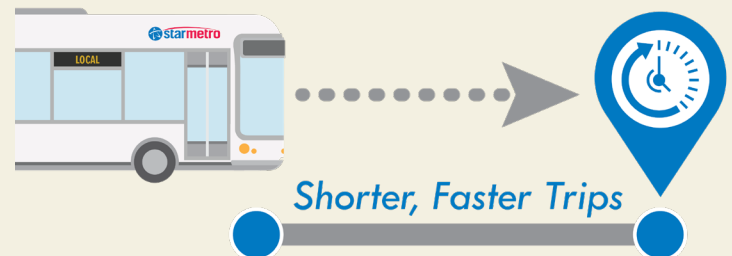

The Route Redesign Study is part of the Southside Transit Center project. It is focused on creating new bus routes that will work with the new transit center and improve service for Southside residents.

The study will be developing ideas for new bus routes and new transportation services. We are looking forward to your input and ideas as we get started on this project.

FASTER, MORE CONVENIENT SERVICE

Improve Local Bus Service

The Route Redesign Study began in February 2023 and will share draft ideas for new bus services by September 2023.

For more information, go to:

Talgov.com/ThinkTransit

